Procacci Development Corporation Announces Groundbreaking in Ft. Myers

BOCA RATON, FL – Procacci Development Corporation, a full service real estate developer based in Boca Raton, continues to build strong in this recovering economy with the ground breaking on a 36,738 square foot build to suit building located on the north side of Daniels Parkway at 8860 Salrose Lane in Ft. Myers. The two-story office building is being developed to meet the specific and extensive requirements of the tenant, the General Services Administration (GSA).

As with many of the buildings within its portfolio, Procacci will utilize sustainable and environmentally responsible materials, making a significant investment to enhance the building's structural integrity. These enhancements will allow the building to meet and exceed Zurich HPR (Highly Protected Risk) standards and have earned the building Pre-Certification in Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) from the U.S. Green Building Council at a Silver level. Included among these enhancements are the installation of impact glass, shatter resistant window film and exterior impact-resistant doors, as well as the securing of rooftop equipment to withstand winds of 155 miles per hour.
